MARINE

Yesterday was a banner day in marine circles. Three big ocean steamers arrived and departed. The Korea from San Francisco came in at 8:30 and docked at Naval Dock No. 2; the Sonoma arrived from the same port at 2 p. m., with her flags half-masted as a mark of respect to E. B. Giffard, who was lost overboard on Tuesday night; and the Moana arrived at 5:30 from the Colonies.

The three vessels brought a total of nearly 500 cabin passengers to town, and a good proportion of them got off here. It was a big tourist day and the stores and hotels enjoyed good trade from all the steamers.

The Korea had 206 cabin passengers, a large number being for Honolulu. Captain Seabury is in command again. He is much thinner than when he went on his vacation. "Nevertheless, give me ranch life to life on the sea," he said yesterday. The Korea brought five days' later mail. She left San Francisco half an hour ahead of the Sonoma. Rough weather was experienced the first two days out.

Among those returning to Honolulu were W. O. Smith, who had a successful operation on one of his eyes for cataract while on the Coast. Mrs. Smith accompanies him. Miss Genevieve Dowsett returned from an extended visit to California; C. A. Graham and family will be here for about six weeks, going then to the Orient; Bruce Cartwright, Jr., returned from Yale as a graduate; Fred S. Knight, Mrs. Knight (nee Dowsett) and Thelma Parker, the heiress, whose interests in the Parker ranch are in litigation, will remain here for several months; W. H. Hoogs and family returned from a long visit to the mainland.

Among the through passengers was Hon. Wong Kai Kah, the Chinese Commissioner Special to the United States, who was with Prince Pu Lun last year on his visit to Honolulu; Bishop O'Connell, of Portland, Me., who is en route to Japan on a special mission for the Pope, and Lieut. MacArthur, U. S. A., son of General MacArthur, who is to meet the general on the vessel here.

Among those joining the vessel here were B. F. Dillingham, who goes to Kobe to meet Mrs. Dillingham; Mr. and Mrs. McCulloch and Miss McCulloch of Marion, Ia., who have been guests at the Moana Hotel for a few weeks, who are on a tour of the world.

The Korea left for the Orient at 5:30 p. m. The Sonoma did not show up until about noon yesterday. With her flags at half-mast there was portent of a disaster aboard. The passengers told of the sad death of Eddie Giffard as soon as the customs boat went alongside. Rough weather for two days after leaving the Coast, and several hours lost in searching for Giffard's body on Tuesday night caused the delay in reaching port.

The Sonoma had 135 first cabin passengers for Honolulu, 23 second and 30 steerage, or 188 all told; through, 134 passengers.

The Sonoma had an interesting crowd aboard. Among them were a large number who figured in the disaster to the Alameda, having been passengers on that ill-fated vessel. Among the arrivals were six bridal parties, including John Johnson and wife, who were married on the Coast. They went at once to their new home in College Hills. Carl M. Lovested of the Gregg Co., who was married in San Francisco on October 11 to Tashen Elizabeth James. They will be at home at 1222 Matlock Ave., after December 3. C. R. Buckland, chief clerk in the Governor's office, accompanied by his two daughters, returned from a vacation trip, which included an interesting time on the Alameda. Mrs. Percy Benson returned from a trip which extended to Paris. Lieut. Cushman, U. S. N., who has been attached to the Naval Station, arrived with Mrs. Cushman. Dr. F. R. Day has returned from a business trip to the Coast.

J. C. Cohen, the theatrical magnate, and wife, returned with promises of some good theatrical presentations this winter. J. H. Hertsche, manager of the Moana Hotel, returned from Chicago; C. J. Hutchins, who went to the Coast on business and golfing pleasure, also returned, with his wife and daughter; Frank Richardson, manager of the Elks baseball team, and Mrs. Richardson returned from the Coast; as did also J. O. Carter, Fred Macfarlane, M. M. O'Shaughnessy, M. Rosenberg, the delegate to the national Eerie of Eagles; T. W. Hobron, the drug store man; Col. Soper and Lieut. Coyne, H. Kiley, who was hurt when leaving the Alameda; L. B. Kerr and family, Edgar Henriques and wife, who went East to visit relatives; Mrs. John Effinger and children. Tom Wall, who had his leg broken by a fall from a cable car in San Francisco, returns on crutches. He is accompanied by Mrs. Wall and child. F. A. Schaefer and master Schaefer are also home again.

The Sonoma departed for the Colonies this morning about 2 a. m.

The Canadian-Australian S. S. Moana arrived from the Colonies at 5:30 and docked at the Bishop wharf. She brought a few passengers for Honolulu, including Mr. and Mrs. E. Kopke and daughters, who have been visiting in Australia. Mrs. Fulbrook, who made a tour of the world, was an arriving passenger. The delay in the arrival of the vessel was due to loading sugar at Suva, and calling at Fanning Island, where a small cargo was discharged. The vessel departed at 10:30 for Victoria and Vancouver.

REPAIRS TO THE ALAMEDA.

SAN FRANCISCO, October 8.—The steamer Alameda, in dry dock at Hunter's Point, was visited by many persons yesterday. Captain A. F. Pillsbury, surveyor for the San Francisco Board of Marine Underwriters, and Captain John Metcalfe, surveyor for Lloyd's, went out to the dry dock early in the day and made an examination of the steamer as she lay in dock, with every hole exposed in her bottom. Moore & Scott, who are making temporary repairs to the vessel, had a force of mechanics at work throughout the day. The Alameda, it is expected, will leave the dry dock this morning and return to her slip at Pacific street wharf to discharge the 400 tons of freight remaining in her hold, and later the underwriters will ask for bids for making permanent repairs to the vessel. It is believed that the Alameda will be able to resume her service for the Oceanic Company within two months or less. The cost of her repairs, roughly estimated, will amount to about $60,000.

The most serious injury so far discovered is the big hole under the port after boiler, which was partially stopped up by Diver G. O. Abrahamson before the Alameda was removed from her perilous position on the reef. It will not be until some time today, however, that the exact extent of the vessel's injuries will be definitely ascertained. Captain Dowell, who was in command of the Alameda when she went ashore, stated last night that there were about thirty holes in her hull, according to estimates made by the ship's officers.

SUES THE ALAMEDA.

When the Oceanic liner Alameda went on the rocks at Port Point on September 30 George Johnstone, aged 14 years, was one of the passengers taken off and placed aboard the revenue cutter Golden Gate. At that time he was believed to have been regularly booked as a passenger, and he was given every attention by representatives of the company. He might have escaped closer scrutiny if a letter from his relatives had not been received by the Oceanic Company asking what provision had been made for his board and transportation to Honolulu in consequence of his interrupted passage on the Alameda.

Reference to the books of the passenger department has disclosed the fact that the boy had not procured a ticket, either in the cabin or steerage, and his presence on the Alameda is unaccounted for except on the hypothesis that he had stowed away.

As a stowaway he has small claims for either sustenance or future transportation to his destination, but as evidence of the young man's self-consciousness it may be stated that he has filed with the Oceanic Company a bill for various expenses incurred as a result of being detained here after he once took passage in the Alameda for Honolulu. Presentation of the claim almost paralyzed business at the Oceanic Company's office yesterday.—Chronicle.

CHINESE EMPIRE

In that province. China will have absolute suzerainty there, and will open it to the world so that it may be developed. Of course, those sections under lease, and which have been bones of contention between Japan and China, will continue as before, under lease. I am glad the war is over so that China may go ahead and develop that great province. We will invite the world to help us create a new Manchuria.

In the forenoon Mr. Wong Kai Kah was in the hands of Mr. Chang Tso Fan, Chinese Consul here, who piloted him about the city. They were accompanied by secretaries of the consulate. Mr. Wong, following out the plan made by Mr. Chang, visited Oahu College early in the morning. He arrived at the school at 10:15 and spent about half an hour there. The students were assembled in the Assembly Hall where Mr. Wong made an address.

MR. WONG'S ADDRESS.

He was introduced by President Griffiths as one of the vanguard of Chinese gentlemen who have been educated in America, and who are bringing about an awakening industrially and commercially in the new China.

Mr. Wong's speech was one of the best that has ever been given in Pauahi hall. He spoke in fluent and idiomatic English, and with an ease that excited admiration. The address made a fine impression. In part, it was as follows:

It is indeed an honor that your president has conferred upon me in asking me to speak to you. I hope you will pardon me in case I do not speak the English language correctly, notwithstanding the education I have had in the United States for several years. Although I have been educated in America, it is more natural for American students to speak their own language than for foreign students. Therefore you can not expect me to speak it as well as the native-born Americans.

Your president has aptly said that China is trying to adopt the western ways. It is true that we have our own civilization, and it is the concept of this that has prevented our adopting the western civilization. It is not on our own account that we have closed our gates against civilization, but the true reason is that there has been little appreciation and understanding between the Chinese and the western people. The pioneers who went to China from the western countries have not encouraged us to take up the western ways, but we have learned many lessons. Taught by the sword, by the fire, and by the shot, today we are beginning to realize that there are other countries besides China and that we are not the salt of the earth.

America is a country from whom we have always had friendship, and it is the intention of our government for us to always live in peace. There should be between us a bond of peace, of commerce, and a bond that will closely unite the two countries, and make them ready to assist each other. We look to you for guidance on many things. The statesmanlike policy of Secretary Hay of the open door in the Orient has won the praise of China, and we are trying our best to perform the duties that were allowed us, and today our government is appreciating all they have put on trial. Today I am beginning to see that our government is appreciating all that they have been trying to do and to do their best. Young men must think first of all of what they have to do to repay the American people for taking pains with them. It is their duty to do something. I do not think anything is better than to do their duty conscientiously. I know that the American nation does not require payments. They should go on, always ready to do their duty and to keep in mind the friendship between the countries. In this way they can somewhat repay the debt that they owe to the American people. I would advise them to follow the example of some great man not of the past ages, but one of the greatest living men in the world today—an honest, strong man, and that man is your president, Theodore Roosevelt. It is easy to be a great man, I think; but it is very different to be a good and great man at the same time. Now, start from the president's point of view. He did his duty with everything in his favor. His doing great things for America alone did not satisfy him, for as an American he must do something for the world, and that is the reason that he considered it his duty to bring to peace the two countries Russia and Japan, and thus to bring to an end the disastrous and brutal war. He did it without fear; he sacrificed everything for it, and he had everything at stake, but he successfully accomplished it. The reason that these nations trusted him and that the world believes him is because he is honest. He asked no favors; he sought no gain; he did only that which he thought was his duty, and I consider him the best, greatest and most honest man the world has ever seen. I will ask the students here to take Roosevelt as an example. If we strive to imitate him we will not be far from doing right.

I would ask you always to keep in mind that the best thing that can exist between the two countries is everlasting peace. Let us avoid all friction. The prosperity of 400,000,000 Chinese and of 100,000,000 Americans depends on the relations of the two countries. Let us do all that we can to promote it.

The president says that there are some Chinese students in this institution and I am glad to know that they are doing well, for they are the ones who will be wanted in China. China is a giant who has been sleeping and who is now waking up, and she needs their assistance. China will be greatly assisted by these students. Of course, it must be taken for granted that those educated in foreign countries can not all occupy high positions. My advice to the student is to do his duty no matter what his situation is.

Mr. President, ladies and gentlemen, I thank you.
